GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, AUGUST 30, 1928

NUMBER 35

PRIMARY ELECTION NEXT TUESDAY

CANDIDACY BETWEEN GREEN AND WELSH BIGGEST ISSUE

Also Senator, Representative and Co-
Treasurer Demanding Attention

Primary election day in Michigan will be on Tuesday, September 4th. At this time candidates will be nominated for the offices of governor, lieutenant governor, U. S. and state senators, congressmen, representative in state legislature, and county offices.

There will be five tickets in the field—Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Socialist and Workers parties. Contests only appear on the Republican ticket, thus that is only one in which the people are particularly interested at this time. These ballots are separate and the voter must select the party ballot he wishes to vote.

Republican Candidates

The biggest fight on the Republican ticket appears to be between Gov. Fred W. Green and former Lieut. Gov. George W. Welsh. Each is putting up an active campaign. Gov. Green points to a record in which he claims much pride and much accomplishment. Mr. Welsh has based his campaign upon what he claims as failures in the administration of Governor Green's two years of office. The big fight seems to be largely in Wayne county, where each candidate claims he will have a majority.

There is a three-cornered fight for the office of lieutenant governor, between the present incumbent, Luren D. Dickenson, Interstate Revenue Collector Fred L. Woodworth and George Elmer McArthur. Judging from what we have been able to learn of local conditions, Mr. Woodworth seems to be the favorite here.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg is unopposed in his candidacy for filling vacancy, which office he now holds, and for full term. Also Congressman Roy O. Woodruff is unopposed.

There is a merry fight on between Senator H. S. Karcher and Tony Achard for the office of State Senator.

The campaign for the office of representative in the State legislature is between James B. Snody and Joseph Warnock of Onaway and William Green of Hillman. Mr. Snody at one time served with credit upon the State tax commission and is one of the charter members of the Northern Michigan Development bureau and is a past president of that organization. For fully a quarter of a century Mr. Snody has been a light for the good of Northern Michigan. Mr. Green is a retired lumberman from Montmorency county. We have no information about Mr. Warnock except that he resides in Onaway.

There is no contest on the county ticket except for the office of treasurer. William Ferguson, the present incumbent in that office is being opposed by Oliver B. Scott of South Branch township.

The polls open at 7:00 o'clock a. m. in each of the several townships, and close at 5 p. m. The voting will take place in the town halls of the respective townships.

While there may be little interest in the local tickets, every voter should avail himself of the right to make his choice. Everyone should vote.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

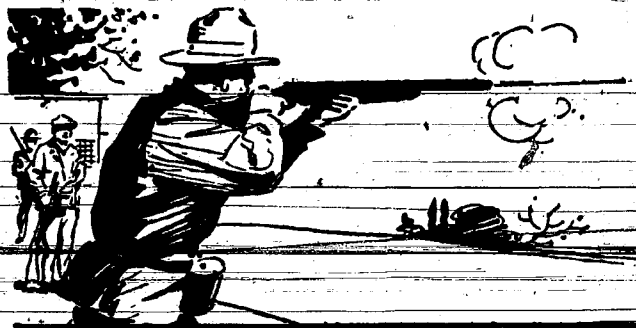

A serious accident occurred in Gaylord late Sunday night when John Cobert caught his heel in the frog of the railroad tracks and was unable to release himself before the mid-right train came through. The body was not discovered until the early morning train also had passed over it.

TRAPSHOOTERS TOURNAMENT GRAYLING, SEPT. 2-3. GIVEN UNDER AUSPICES NORTHERN MICHIGAN TRAPSHOOTERS LEAGUE

HOOVER WINS IN STRAW VOTE

Last week ballot boxes were placed in the various commercial centers of the townships, and a straw vote of the presidential campaign was taken at the request of the Detroit Times. Of course we realize that this was only a straw vote and the regular election may bring very different results, for only a small proportion of the voters placed their (x) before their candidate's name. At any rate we have found the votes in this county to run as follows—Frederic, five more votes for Smith than for Hoover; Lovell, one more vote for Smith than for Hoover; and Grayling, with thirty more votes for Hoover than for Smith, with a total in this county of 116 votes for Smith and 140 votes for Hoover. This gives a fairly good estimate of the sentiment in this territory, though a different result may come with the final returns.

OPENING NEW 50 TO $1.00 STORE

FORMER KRAUS HARDWARE
BLDG. NEWLY REMODELED

The former Kraus hardware store building has been remodeled and repainted, and new plate glass windows installed, until now it is one of the most pleasing and attractive store buildings in town. New, modern shelving and counters and attractive display windows and show cases also add completeness and good appearance to the place.

On Saturday, September 1st the place is to be opened with a stock of merchandise to be offered for sale at prices ranging from 5c to $1.00 each, which comprises almost every conceivable article for the home, for the work shop and for many other uses. The stock will be attractively displayed and the interior and exterior of the store will have much the appearance of a large city Woolworth or Knox 10 cent store. This store would be a credit to a city much larger in population than Grayling. Emil Kraus and Mrs. Frank Sales are the new proprietors, and Mrs. Sales will have management of the store. They say the policy of the store will be to sell at very close margins, depending upon a large turn over for profits.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC FRIDAY

The annual Sunday School picnic of the Michelson Memorial church will be held at Kyle Lake next Friday, Aug. 31st, and many of the youngsters as well as grown-ups are looking forward to a good time. There will be sports and swimming and everyone is requested to bring his bathing suit. At 5:00 o'clock there will be a basket picnic with platters to eat. Members of the Sunday School and adherents of the church are cordially invited to attend. Cars will leave the church at 1:00 p. m. to carry those wishing to ride.

SCHOOL OPENS TUES. SEPT. 4

The mythical school bell will again peal forth its loud welcome to the boys and girls of Grayling when they assemble next Tuesday morning to begin another year of school work. And among them will be the usual quota of beginners whose anxious mothers will accompany them to see that they are properly entered. It will be a big day for the boys and girls of Grayling, when hopes will run high as they begin at the bottom rungs of the ladder of learning, and look ahead to higher realms of knowledge. Those of us whose school days are over cannot help but heave a sigh of envy for those lucky youngsters.

The teaching force will be quite changed, but eight of last year's teachers are returning. Some of these absent ones of former years are going to be sadly missed. Supt. B. E. Smith was always popular among the boys and girls and without his familiar figure about the clean and study rooms it will appear that something is missing. This is also true with some of the other teachers who are not returning. However Supt. Bogue and the new teachers will soon fill the gaps that may appear and we look forward to another most successful school year. The assembly room and offices have been redecorated and will add freshness to the interior of the school building. Also in place of the screens beneath the skylights, the glass has been covered with opaque paint, which will eliminate the sun-glare. The teachers for the year will be as follows:

- Teachers for 1928-29
Supt.—Rolland M. Bogue, Ypsilanti.
Principal and Coach—LaVere Cushman, Mt. Pleasant.
Latin and French—Ruth Richards, Alma.

PRINCIPAL'S OFFICE OPEN MON. DAY

The principal's office will be open all day Monday, according to Mr. Cushman, for students wishing to get their credits checked and to make their enrollments and classification for the present school year. An endeavor will be made, he says, to arrange schedules and subjects so as to meet the requirement for entrance to colleges and universities of this state.

GRANGERS ENJOY FINE PICNIC

The members of Crawford County Grange enjoyed a merry picnic, held at the pleasant farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Schrieber, Sr., at Sigbee, August 18th. About 100 were present, representing the farmers and their families of the Grangers.

First on the program of the day was a pot-luck dinner at noon. The families began gathering at an early hour and the wives and daughters got busy setting the tables and arranging the good things for the dinner, while the men folk congregated in groups discussing farm and social affairs.

After dinner the members enjoyed games, foot races, pitching quoits, and other contests, much to the pleasure of all. Also there was an interesting program of recitations by the younger children.

In the evening there was a supper after which old and young participated in an old-fashioned dance, and everyone had a good time. There are now about 80 members of Crawford County Grange. Their meetings are regularly held on the first and third Saturdays of each month, in American Legion Hall. The next meeting will be held Sept. 1st when it is expected that two new members will be initiated into the order. A good attendance is urged.

TWO BIG DAYS FOR TRAPSHOOTERS

MANY OF MICHIGAN'S BEST TO BE HERE SUN. AND MON.

There are to be two red-letter days for Grayling Gun Club Sunday and Monday when it will hold its first registered trapshoot. The new trap range is about ready and the new club house is receiving its finishing touches. And by the time the hour arrives for the first sounds to take their places before the three traps, Grayling Gun Club will have the honor of having the finest shooting range in Michigan.

The tournament is to last two days—Sunday and Labor Day—and the club program that has been arranged by Carl Mickelson and other members of the Grayling club is attracting many of Michigan's most famous shooters. From as far north as the Soo and as far south and east and west as Michigan's boundaries, messengers have been received saying, "We'll be there."

That means two days of the finest kind of good fellowship and the cleanest of rivalry in sport. Trapshooting is one of the most enjoyable of sports and those who participate in its pleasures come in a happy frame of mind, and that makes for good comradeship and friendliness. The fellow who wins, never boasts and the loser is generous with his praises for the winner. Surely, it's a great sport. Some will shoot for prizes and others for the pleasure of the game.

A score of barrels filled with blue rocks—targets are already on the grounds; thousands of rounds of ammunition will be on hand on the opening day, and the stage will be set for two days of real sport. And the people of Grayling are to be congratulated upon having the privilege of entertaining the sportsmen that are to be here. We are sure the visitors are going to be accorded the hospitality that is usual with Grayling citizens.

As the several events become history, the records of the participants, whether they are high or low, will be recorded in the official records of the Northern Michigan Trapshooters league and in the records of the National Association at their headquarters at Manicouche. It is needless to say that everyone will be on his toes to do his best at this shoot, and we hope some high scores are going to result.

The shooting program will begin promptly at 10:00 o'clock of each morning. Lunches will be served at the new club house so that it will not be necessary for anyone to return to town for noon lunches.

Those not already familiar with the location of the new range can easily find it by taking M-93 out of Grayling to within a rod or two of where M-93 makes its first turn (to the right), follow the new trail (also to the right) which leads to the club house and range. While there are several roads that lead to the right before coming to the right turn, until coming nearly to the first turn on the tarvia road, immediately after passing the square yellow turn sign.

The public is invited to attend the tournament. There is no charge for spectators.

WELL KNOWN GAY- LORD MAN DIES

Frank A. Kramer, a well-known Gaylord business man, passed away at Grayling Mercy Hospital early Monday morning, Aug. 27th, 1928, after a short illness following an operation of a serious character.

There are few men whose lives are crowned with the honor and respect which was universally accorded to Frank A. Kramer, who for nearly half a century had been connected with the commercial world of Northern Michigan. With him success in life had been reached by sterling qualities of mind and a heart true to every manly principle. He had never deviated from what his judgment indicated to be right and honorable between his fellows and himself. He never swerved from the path of duty and had every reason to enjoy the consciousness of having gained for himself by his honorable, straightforward career the confidence and respect of the entire community in which he so long occupied a prominent part. The business career of Frank A. Kramer, who has been a resident of Gaylord for a longer period and whose life has been more faultless in honor, integrity and conduct and stainless in reputation.

For upwards of 35 years he had been the respected president of the Gaylord State Savings Bank, which was held by reason of his efficiency and integrity.

Mr. Kramer was a native of Russia, his birthplace being the city of Riga. He emigrated to this country in his youth, taking up his residence in the city of Cleveland, where he acquired the rudiments of his commercial career. He took up a business location in the spring of 1882, he was, in the fall of 1884, and to this time two children were born, Hazel and Paul, whom with his wife survive him.

He was a Knight of Pythias and a Mason of high degree.

The funeral was held at the family residence at 2:00 p. m., Wednesday, Aug. 29, and the remains laid to rest in Fairview Cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of sympathizing friends and neighbors.

MRS. FRITZE KRAUS PASSED AWAY

In the passing of Mrs. Fritze Kraus, wife of the late Albert Kraus, Grayling loses one of its most widely known and highly esteemed women. Mrs. Kraus passed away at Grayling Mercy Hospital Friday morning, with her entire family at her bedside, bringing to a close a beautiful life of home devotion and love. A couple of years ago Mrs. Kraus suffered a stroke of paralysis from which she never fully recovered, and on Monday, August 20th was taken suddenly ill at her home and immediately removed to Mercy Hospital, where she became weaker until the end came.

Fritze Behrendt was born May 13th, 1854 in Germany from whence she came to America in 1872. In 1873 she was united in marriage to Albert Kraus. After residing in Detroit and Fowlerville for some time, she came to Grayling, where they had since resided. Mr. Kraus, who had been on Michigan and with the hearty engaged in the hardware business on operation of our community, was a successful and operated a store for many years, passed away March 28, 1913. Mrs. Kraus was the mother of ten children, one of whom passed away in infancy and Louis Joseph, who left this life November 8, 1926, the surviving son of Mr. Kraus. Those surviving are Ben B. Kraus, Elkhorn, Wis.; Mrs. Francis Weinberg, Mrs. Esther Pollock, Mrs. Hattie Cohen, Detroit; Gattie A. Kraus, Chicago; Mrs. Anna Friedman, Grand Rapids and Mrs. Augusta Wahl, and Emil Kraus, Grayling.

Mrs. Kraus was a beautiful character, was of a most sympathetic nature and had hosts of friends among the old and young. In her earlier days she was most active in lodge circles and church societies. At her death she was a member of Grayling Rebekah Lodge, Grayling Chapter O. E. S. No. 38 and of the Ladies' Aid Society of Michigan Memorial Day to which she was a member.

The remains rested in the home on Michigan avenue, amidst a bed of flowers until Monday, when the remains were taken to Lansing for interment. Funeral services there were held at the Joy funeral chapel, the day of the funeral, and the remains laid to rest beside a half-acre in the afternoon between those of her husband in Mr. Hope's team from the luck pine and hard-cemeteries. On Sunday afternoon, wood settlements and each one of the graves were held at the Grayling home bound to win the victory, so come with many old friends of the family and see the result. There will also be in attendance, Rev. W. C. Olson, pastor of the Michigan Memorial Day church, conducted the service, delivered address and sang a most impressive service and a beautiful tribute to this most long as you care to. This service was added to by two. Don't forget your lunch basket and usual solace. Lead kindly, light and bring it well filled.

Nearer My God to Thee, beautifully rendered by Mrs. C. G. Clippert, who here for the service were Mr. and Mrs. Ben B. Kraus, Elkhorn, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Weinberg, and son Leo, Mrs. Sam Pollock, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Cohen, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Friedman, and daughter Dorothy Collier, Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Behrendt, Nathan Born, Lansing; Mrs. J. H. Walt, Day City.

Accompanying the family to Lansing were Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Estes.

FARMERS' PICNIC AT BEAVER CREEK

Plans are just about completed for a big Farmers' picnic to be held at Beaver Creek, down half on Taylor O. E. S. No. 38 and at the Ladies' Aid Society of Michigan Memorial Day to which she was a member. The picnic will be held on Saturday, September 1st, and the surrounding area is cordially invited. A large number of former residents of that part of the county have waited a short time and are now ready to bring your lunch basket and invite your neighbors and friends to spend the day at the picnic. There will be a ball game in the afternoon between those of her husband in Mr. Hope's team from the luck pine and hard-cemeteries. On Sunday afternoon, wood settlements and each one of the graves were held at the Grayling home bound to win the victory, so come with many old friends of the family and see the result. DANISH CONVENTION WELL ATTENDED

With some 34 visitors in town the Danish convention held last week beginning on Friday evening and continuing to Sunday night proved to be a very interesting and enjoyable gathering of Danish people. The term given the affair is Kredsmoder, which is a district meeting of the congregations of the Danish-Lutheran churches.

Among the visitors were, four ministers, Rev. Axel Kildegaard of Greenville, a former pastor of the local church and his family; Rev. Jens J. Dixon, Ludington; Rev. Soren D. Rodholm, Des Moines, Iowa; Rev. Svend Jorgenson, Detroit, while the other guests came from Greenville, Fremont, Ashland and Detroit.

The meeting proper began with a service at the Danish-Lutheran church on Friday evening, at which there was a large congregation. Coincidental to the convention on the 24th Rev. and Mrs. Kjolhede were celebrating their silver wedding anniversary and the members of the church knowing of the event turned the evening's meeting into a social affair.

This was held at Danebod Hall and as the bride and groom entered Miss Ingeborg Hanson, rendered a Danish wedding hymn.

When the guests had been seated James W. Sorenson gave the address of welcome and presented the guests of honor with a silver tray on which there were 25 silver dollars. Rev. and Mrs. Kjolhede were married in Denmark, where the former had gone from this country on a visit and where he met his bride. They have lived in Grayling for the past 20 years, during which time Rev. Kjolhede has been pastor of the local church.

During the evening Rev. and Mrs. Kjolhede expressed their gratitude for the kindness of their friends, and Jens Sorenson, who formerly made traveling his home and Rev. Rodholm made a few remarks. The hall was beautifully decorated with garden flowers and crepe paper in the Danish colors, red and white. A delicious lunch was served; the bride's table was adorned with a beautiful wedding cake. During the church hour, Rev. Dixon, who is president of the district presented the couple with a pair of beautiful silver candlesticks, and Rev. Kildegaard and Rev. Jorgenson gave toasts.

On Saturday morning at 9 o'clock Rev. Rodholm presided at the bible hour at Danebod Hall following which the ministers of the district held their business meeting. At noon a Saturday social was held for the outsiders, the guests of Mrs. Rasmussen at her home at Lake Margrothe. This proved to be a very pleasant affair and much enjoyed by all present.

At 2:30 o'clock the visitors were taken in automobiles to the "Hartwick Memorial Dining." All seemed to find this a most beautiful piece of scenery. Returning they stopped and dined at the fish hatchery.

Saturday evening the various hosts and hostesses entertained their guests at home, and the meeting reconvened Sunday morning with services at the church, at which Rev. Kildegaard delivered a very fine sermon.

At 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon all gathered at Danebod Hall, where Rev. Sorenson presided, giving a fine lecture. This gathering was for all the Danish people and their families and supper was served to all present at 4:30 o'clock. Services at the church again in the evening closed the Kredsmoder.

There was something doing all the time to keep the visitors interested and Grayling once again had gained the honor of being most royal entertainer.

WE Sometimes wonder if the people of Grayling fully appreciate the fine church we have. Michelson Memorial church is one of the most beautiful church edifices anywhere to be found in Michigan. There are larger churches in some of our greater cities that cost a half million or more of dollars, that, because of their size, would be just as much out of order in Grayling as would be the People's Savings bank of Detroit in Grayling.

Not so with Michelson Memorial. Our church is just large enough and is a jewel in every respect. Handsome in appearance both inside and out, comfortable seats, beautifully arranged and charming in its general atmosphere makes it a place that should be the pride of every citizen living here. There isn't a single thing lacking that would make this place ideal in every department of the church work. The organization is fairly prosperous, due to the generosity of a few citizens, and the aid of others who subscribe all they can to its support. And too, Rev. Greenwood, its pastor, is offering excellent sermons—lecture sermons—they may well be termed. He offers well founded opinions on present day subjects, touching upon the problems that the people are thinking about and upon which they are glad to be enlightened. His sermons are clothed in the most perfect English and it is a pleasure to hear them. One comes away from this fine place of worship feeling that he has been helped intellectually as well as spiritually. This is not a plea to get more financial support for the church but is only to help remind those who may have become unmindful of this fine blessing that has been made possible for the people of Grayling by the late Nels Michelson.

BATES-LADWIG WEDDING IN DETROIT

Miss Rena M. Bates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Bates of Detroit, Michigan was married to Mr. August E. Ladwig of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, on Thursday, August 16, at high noon in the Wesley Chapel of the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal Church with Doctor M. S. Rice officiating.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, Miss Bertha Bates, her sister, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Charles Lee Catherwood was matron of honor. Doctor Thomas H. Crews performed the duties of best man.

Mrs. Ladwig looked charming in an ensemble of independence blue crepe de Chine with small felt hat and shoes of same color and she wore a corsage of orchids, roses and valley lilies.

Miss Bertha Bates and Mrs. Catherwood's gowns were of pale green and king blue shades of georgette crepe respectively and with these costumes were worn small felt hats to match and corsages of dark pink roses.

Mrs. Bates was attired in a gown of powder blue crepe, lace-trimmed and her corsage was of roses and delphiniums.

Following the ceremony a reception and breakfast for the bridal party and immediate members of the family was held at the Lee Plaza after which the couple departed on an extended western trip, which will include the Black Hills of South Dakota and California.

After October first they will take up their residence at Milwaukee, Wis.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Bates, Grayling, Michigan; and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Jerome and daughter Elizabeth of Lansing, Michigan.

Mrs. Ladwig, who has been a most popular girl, was much feted previous to her marriage. For her pleasure Mr. and Mrs. Alex B. DeWolfe gave a buffet supper and bridge at their home. Mr. and Mrs. William W. Hoyer invited guests for a week-end house party at their summer home at St. Claire Flats.

Mrs. Charles Fegh Catherwood gave a luncheon and bridge at the Lake Shore Country Club and Miss Grace Reich entertained with a luncheon, bridge and shower at the Lee Plaza as did also Miss Hazel Gettess at the Detroit Boat Club.

The Bates family were former Grayling residents.

GRAYLING GOLFERS LOSE TO GAYLORD

The finals of a six game series of golf games between the clubs of Cheboygan, Boyne City, Gaylord and Grayling, was played in Grayling Sunday between the locals and Gaylord. Grayling lost the contest by a score of 25 to 10.

This closes the season's contests. While Grayling was the loser in all six games, it cannot help but be a privilege to come into contact with the best players of the Northern Michigan clubs. A lot of new acquaintances and friendships have been formed besides the Grayling players gained a lot of valuable experience. Most of Grayling's players are new at the game, and nearly all are men who are busy business men and have but little time to spend upon the links. They play whenever they can but that is seldom enough.

We are sure that next season Grayling is going to give a better account of itself in the tournament games.

FORMER RESIDENT PASSED AWAY

Many of the older Grayling residents will be sorry to hear of the sudden death of Levi E. Clement who with his family lived here nearly thirty years, leaving in 1897 for Detroit. Mr. Clement was accidentally killed in the Wabash railroad yards in Detroit last Thursday.

Levi Clement was born December 13, 1855, in a young man came to Grayling in about 1870 to work for the Sailing-Hanson Lumber Company, where he was foreman for several years. In 1885 he was married to Ella O'Donahue, and to them were born three children, John, Ray, and Ethel (Mrs. Ethel Walker) all of whom are now residents of Detroit.

In 1888 Mr. Clement accepted a position with the Michigan Central railroad and continued to be in their employ for several years, in 1897 being transferred to Detroit.

In 1904 he began employment for the Wabash Railroad Co. in that city with whom he remained until his untimely death August 23rd. The accident occurred Thursday afternoon when he was run over by a construction train while working on the tracks. Mr. Clement was to have been released with pension from his employment this year on December 1st, after many years of faithful service to his employer.

Services were held from his home 1706 Campbell Ave., Detroit, Saturday afternoon and the remains were taken to Grayling where further services were held Sunday afternoon at Michelson Memorial church, Rev. J. W. Greenwood officiating. The deceased is survived by his two sons, John and Ray and his daughter, Mrs. Ethel Walker, of Detroit. Two brothers, Bert and Walker Mitchell, and three grandchildren.

Frank Pillsbury and son Lawrence and the latter's wife and children of Lansing were in Grayling the forepart of the week visiting old friends. The Pillsbury family were former residents of this place and neither gentlemen had visited Grayling for a good many years. They have been resorting at Higgins Lake.

SMILES AND LAUGHTER

By THOMAS ANKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

SHE was a very handsome woman I had to admit to myself as I caught a hasty impression of her smiling composedly in her seat as I came into the car. I am influenced very strongly by first impressions, I am almost ashamed to admit, and there was an air of refinement about this woman which was very convincing. Her gown was in excellent taste—modest, conservative, and carefully tailored. Her hair was beautifully kept and her hands well-manicured. I got all this in a quick impression as I went to my seat in the middle of the car. She seemed a person one might like. It was when she laughed that the vision of her loveliness faded out like an electric light when the switch is turned off. It was a coarse, raucous, vulgar laugh that pierced to the remotest corners of the car. Women turned in their seats to see what had happened. Men craned their necks to discover whence came the jangling, nerve-racking sound. It was an illiterate, untrained, undisciplined voice which spoke volumes. The most skillful art of modiste and hairdresser and manicurist could not efface the impression of that loud laugh. It would take a surgical operation to do anything with it. She was just common, that was all.

Those who first met Keene, even the most charitable in expressing their opinions, were wont to say that he had a very plain face. It was the current opinion that he was the ugliest man in town. He had rugged features, a large nose, and a wide cut mouth. His was a very serious, almost a dull face when it was in repose. But when he smiled you would have received an altogether different impression of him. It was a smile that changed and radiated his whole countenance. It was the gentlest, friendliest, kindest smile I have ever seen on a man's face. Before he spoke you could detect that his voice was soft and well modulated. You knew without being told that you could trust him. He was the sort of man you would go to if you were in trouble, knowing full well that you would find sympathy and understanding. His waggish tongue when he came near them; children were never afraid of him as they were often of the more comely faced. I could never explain this excepting that his smile suggested gentleness, and his quiet gentleness with human beings and animals as well.

So far as I know, man is the only animal that expresses emotion or a state of mind by smiles or laughter. The hyena laughs we are told, and the lion, but there is no more real laughter in the sounds they make than there is music in the bray of a donkey. Words, some one has said were given us by the gods to conceal our thoughts, but smiles and laughter are the most definite and sincere revelation of our true character and state of mind. The villain may smile but his smile only tends to reveal his villainy.

MINNESOTA'S OPPORTUNITY

If the Middle West is to get relief, it will have to go after relief. It will have to send achieving champions to Washington—go-getters who have the energy to go and the ability to get.

So far as the Presidential candidates are concerned, the choice of the Middle West between Hoover and Smith is beyond question. Mr. Hoover is a son of the Middle West, knows its needs, recognizes its requirements. He is a man of vision who sees the Country whole, and appreciates the necessity for giving the Middle West, as the great producing region, its proper and essential place. Among other things, he proposes to bring the seaboard into the Middle West by way of the Mississippi and by way of the Great Lakes.

Governor Smith, on the other hand, is by birth and breeding an Easterner of the East. He has never been in the Middle West and does not know its people, its ideas or its needs. The sidewalks of New York mean more to him than the highways by land and water of this great region. He proposes to fasten upon us the commercial sovereignty of the East, to deny us exit by the St. Lawrence, to force us to continue paying tribute to Buffalo and New York. The control of the Republican leadership, particularly in the Senate, is passing into Western hands. Western senators head a majority of the great committees. The opportunity is at hand for the Middle West to redress its wrongs at Washington. This situation cries aloud for efficient support from Minnesota. Minneapolis Journal.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION

One of the easiest emergency desserts for a "company" menu in summer is shortcake, made with any fresh fruit, whipped cream, and either sponge cake or biscuit dough. Peaches, raspberries and bananas all make good shortcakes.

When binding the neck of a dress, use a double bias fold about three-fourths of an inch wide when folded. Place the raw edge along the neck edge of the garment with the binding lying on the right side. Stitch about a quarter inch from the edge, turn the binding over and baste down, without turning in the folded edge. Stitch again on the right side, close to the first stitching. This catches the binding at the back and makes a neat, firm finish.

Chewing gum is hard to remove from clothing, and sometimes leaves a stain. Chewing gum usually contains a gum known as chile, which has been boiled down, flavored and sweetened. Resins of various kinds are sometimes used. A gum stain can often be softened with egg white and then washed. Prolonged treatment with carbon tetrachloride is satisfactory, as a rule, although it may be necessary to remove traces of sugar by sponging with water at intervals.

No matter how careful you are, you will sometimes find weevils or worms in packages of cereal, in the flour bin, or on dried fruits or nuts.

These pests come from minute eggs deposited probably before the package was sealed, or before the food entered your kitchen. Destroy all badly infested food and any paper containers. Wash and scald the flour bin and other permanent containers before using them again. Never leave cereal when going away from home for any length of time. One weevily package will contaminate everything else the insects can reach.

If you diagrammed the paths you travel in doing your ordinary kitchen work, you would cross and recross each other needlessly. Sometimes a slight change in arrangement will save many steps. Four main kitchen activities follow each other every day, and several times a day: food preparation, cooking, serving, and clearing away and dishwashing. Compact centers for these four jobs should follow the same order around the room, usually from left to right. Equipment should be placed accordingly. Needed utensils should be kept at each work center, says the Bureau of Home Economics, and there should be good window light and artificial light for any task.

THREE TIMES LARGER THAN THE LOS ANGELES

According to a report from the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit, the Secretary of the Navy has appointed a board of five officers for the purpose of considering airship designs submitted in competition. Two dirigibles were authorized by Congress at a cost not to exceed $8,000,000 for both. They are to be helium inflated and about three and one-half times the size of the present Navy dirigible.

SCHOOL CHILDREN KNOW FORESTRY

School children of Jackson Hole, Wyo., have demonstrated themselves as pupils when it comes to forest practice. Pupils of the Wilson School recently submitted the following answers to the question: "What would you do to save or conserve timber?"

"Take out the old trees—leave the young ones to grow."
"Take out the diseased trees."
"Don't chop down trees that you don't need."
"Take out damaged trees."
"Take out forked trees."
"Use the limbs for firewood."
"Use the lumber before it rots."
"When you see a fire in the woods put it out."
All of these answers represent sound forestry practices.

Postpones that day of motor overhauling

Change to Shell Motor Oil—use it exclusively—and forget about motor overhauling. Your motor will still be running sweetly when newer car fashions tempt you to trade.

A motor consistently lubricated with Shell Motor Oil seems never to wear out. It keeps running and running with tireless precision until changing styles and advanced engineering development make the car obsolete—and even then the motor is so good that the owner hates to give it up.

By adopting unusually liberal specifications—by selecting only those crude oils which are naturally adapted to lubricating purposes—by avoiding destructive heat refining—Shell Motor Oil has been given just the right body. It is thin enough to reach every moving surface instantly—thick enough to meet any emergency that may arise in modern high-speed motoring.

A locomotive engine entirely new to these regions passed north through Grayling last week. It was an observation locomotive from the New York Central & Hudson River railroad which is now in combination with the Michigan Central and the locomotive carried inspectors who were viewing the railroad and country. The locomotive is a combination of engine and passenger coach, the cab extending the entire length on both sides. It was drawing two passenger cars.

Olaf Michelson and James Muhall have bought the lumber yard of L. E. Woodward in Owosso. It is an old and well established business in that city, which they will continue, carrying all grades of lumber, rough and dressed, with sash doors and frames, and everything for interior finishing.

They have a coal and wood yard in connection, and with their capital, push, and business experience, can safely anticipate success. We regret their removal from here and congratulate Owosso for the accession to their business ranks.

THE FARMER'S WIFE IS FREE

By Erwin Groer
(President Greer School of Electrical and Automotive Trades, Chicago, Ill.)

Let us step back twenty years. Saturday night. Around the rail-fence of the court house yard sleepily cluster a scant two dozen horses, hitched to mud-gaked buggies. Over by the bench in front of the hardware store, a little knot of farmer men are gathered; talking of the price of corn, the fearful wages these no-count farmhands want, and so on. Village maidens and matrons, yes, plenty of them; a good plenty of farmers and farmer boys; but only here and there a farm girl, and scarcely any farmers' wives. We wonder why this should be so; so we cross over to the hardware store and question the end-man on the left-hand bench.

"Hey? Oh no, she hasn't come to town a-Saturday night, for ten years. We're ten mile out, y'know—nigh a two hour drive, and she's always too tuckered out to tackle it."

And now, another Saturday night. Around the rail fence of the court-house yard, a hundred odd cars stand parked in shining ranks, like a crack regiment at parade.

Over by the gasoline pump in front of the hardware store a cherry mob of farm men and farm women are discussing the price of corn, the fearful wages of those no-count farmhands; but above all, they are talking about storage batteries, spot lights and carburetors. Farmers' wives and daughters by the hundred, gay in flimsy summer finery, crowd the sidewalks. Bloomers! Band is blaring away on the courthouse green, and the young folks are fox-trotting on the roped-off street. The movie is moving merrily; the drug store is crowded to the doors; many colored electric signs wink and blink overhead; it's just a little bit of Broadway!

"What's the special attraction?" we ask.

"Nothing, just the usual Saturday night crowd. We farmers wives work pretty hard during the week, so we like to have a little fun when we can."

And the automobile did it. Hey! Hey!

Old Man's Privilege

A woman I highly esteem scolds me because she believes I criticize women too much. At seventy-four a man does not admire the ladies as he did at twenty; thirty or forty and somewhat at fifty and sixty. An elderly man is entitled to a good deal of charity in his vanities; the mistake is made in admitting him to your presence.—E. W. Howe's Monthly

Is THIRTY the Love Deadline?

Rupert Hughes was born in Missouri in 1878 and since that time has given plenty of evidence that he comes from the state where they have to be shown. For many years he has been famous for his brilliant novels and short stories. Besides a literary career he has established a reputation for himself as an army officer and as a music critic and authority on musical affairs. He has recently been running a widely quoted column in newspapers throughout the country dealing with modern women and their problems. He is married.

By RUPERT HUGHES

The wise and witty Will Durant is probably no sorry now for robbing men past thirty of the capacity for love that it is almost cruel to speak of it.

The greatest practitioner of his day, Doctor Osler, became famous for what he never said, and people still blantly misquote the Osler theory though he has been dead for years and denied the statement that is glued to his name.

Celtic Burgess wrote a quatrain stating that he would rather see than be a purple-corn. It grew so popular that he dashed off another:

Yes, I wrote the purple corn. I'm sorry now I wrote it. But I can tell you anyhow I'll kill you if you doubt it.

Doctor Durant may be equally dangerous by this time, but he has not yet denied the appalling words he signed.

"A man past thirty is incapable of love. A man above thirty may go wild over a blonde 'chugine.' That is not love. Love is absolute devotion—the desire to give full service to another."

It would be hard to cram more error and false implication into equal space.

Why is it impossible to love a blonde 'chugine' is a banality, needless to say, more lovable? As for 'absolute devotion' and 'full service,' numerous court records would seem to show that blonde 'chugines' are able to extract from their admirers more devotion, full service and self-sacrifice than any other class from any other class.

I have not space now time to go deep into history but a few dazzling contradictions of Doctor Durant occur to me almost at once.

In the first place, the first man was past thirty when he loved the first woman, for I read in the Oxford English Dictionary written about the year 1400 that Adam, when he was created, was "a man of XXX winters' age."

It was after this time that Eve was created for his express company and he certainly loved her at first sight. Furthermore, as Saint Jerome, a hard-core of the same period, states, women are cleaner than men, for woman was made of a fine clean rib while man was made of a lump of clay.

Take a few of the most famous love stories; Antony and Cleopatra, for instance. Surely Antony loved Cleopatra; he gave up victory and war to follow her. Yet he was forty-two when he died and she was about twenty-eight.

Where is there a more pitiful romance love story than that of Abelard and Heloise? Yet when Abelard met Heloise he was thirty-eight. She was thirty-two; they were married and continued on through life until her death when she was more than sixty, and they were buried side by side. In Murray's words, "There has never been a passion more famous. It was great love."

Contrast this with the almost equally famous romance of Rupert and Eliza, both Barrett Brownings. He was thirty-two when he met her; she was thirty-eight. Her father opposed the marriage so bitterly that two years later they eloped. His poetic references to her, "half angel-half bird," and her so-called "Sonnets from the Portuguese," written when she was forty, are as glowing with love as anything in literature. If Browning did not love his wife, and if she did not love him, then nobody ever loved anybody.

Among my friends the devotion of Chuck to his wife was famous. They met when he was thirty-five. He never married, but he could love—and his burning letters to his "immortal beloved," his unimpeachable Collette, were written after he was thirty-four.

Hawthorne's marriage is among the perfect romances. He was thirty-five when he fell in love.

One might go on and on and prove by innumerable further instances, famous and humble, that men and women can and do know true love when they are past thirty, Doctor Durant to the contrary, notwithstanding.

Help!

A family in Central avenue was having some cleaning done and a very high glepladder was left in one room. Mrs. X was surprised to hear a shrill cry coming from this particular room. "For heaven's sake! Some one come here quick and get this child down before he breaks his neck!" She rushed into the room and found her small son perched on top of the ladder. "What is the matter, son?" she inquired.

"Oh, nothing," he answered. "I was just saying what grandma would say if she found me up here."—Indianapolis News.

The only difference between the good detective story of today and the good detective story of thirty years ago is that then it came between paper covers and cost a dime, while now it comes between fancy cloth covers with gold letters and costs two dollars.

Achard is an enthusiastic booster for good roads, and for some years has been prominently identified with practically all good-roads development projects effecting this district.

The 28th Senatorial District is composed of ten counties. For the past twelve years this office has been held by a resident of the Eastern side of the District.

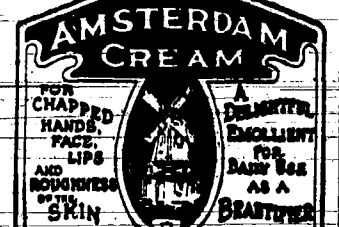

Achard's neighbors at home have unanimously endorsed his candidacy. These are the folks who know him best. They are honest in their convictions that he will make a good representative of the district's interests at Lansing.

This is an important fact which we wish to call to the attention of the voters of Crawford County.

Achard knows the District's needs, and we sincerely endorse his candidacy for the office of State Senator.

It will be imitated, of course! The new, the fine and the beautiful always inspire emulation. But so great is the cost of building the magnificent new Buick bodies for the Silver Anniversary Buick that imitation will be possible only for such costly cars, and even these will find difficulty in following where Buick leads!

$1,000,000 has been expended in manufacturing the dies alone for the new Buick bodies; and the greatly curving side panels which form one of their distinguishing characteristics represent the most important and painstaking work employed on any automobile in the world!
